LEWISVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA - The ABVT announces the national broadcast date for its televised video documentary describing the objectives of the ABVT and its positive impact as an organization on veterinary medicine, toxicology, and human health in the 21st century.

The full length video documentary is scheduled for national broadcast on the Discovery Channel on Friday, May 28th at 7 am Eastern and Pacific times. The full length video documentary can be viewed now on the ABVT website at <http://www.abvt.org/public/video>.

The full length video documentary will also be broadcast in national syndication on the US Government's Voice of America in the Fall of 2010. A one minute commercial version of the video documentary will also be broadcast in the Dallas, TX, Atlanta, GA, Los Angeles, CA, New York City, NY, and Washington, DC regional markets on CNN, Fox News, MSNBC and other similar networks in the Fall of 2010. The one minute video documentary can be viewed now on the ABVT website at <http://www.abvt.org/public/video>.

ABOUT THE ABVT

The American Board of Veterinary Toxicology (ABVT) is an internationally recognized certifying body for veterinarians that demonstrate broad knowledge and expertise in many aspects of toxicology. ABVT is one of twenty specialty organizations of the American Veterinary Medical Association, established in 1967. The combination of veterinary training and expertise in toxicology has made Diplomates of the ABVT unique and highly effective in a variety of careers. ABVT Diplomates play important roles in ensuring animal, human, and environmental health around the world. The Diplomates also strive to inform and educate the public, private practice veterinarians and veterinary medical students about the toxicological hazards to pets, livestock and wildlife. More information about the ABVT can be found at <http://www.abvt.org>.
